

ANG MGA KONTRIBYUTOR

MARIA RHODORA G. ANCHETA is an associate professor, Department of English and Comparative Literature, College of Arts and Letters, University of the Philippines, Diliman, Quezon City, teaching American literature. She specializes in humor studies, and has written papers for conferences and for publication on humor and popular cultural forms, in American and in Philippine culture. She was past research fellow at the Center for Popular Cultural Studies at Bowling Green State University at Bowling Green, Ohio, and was fellow of the USIS Summer Institute at the University of California at Santa Barbara. She is currently a grantee of the UP Ph.D. Incentive Grant. <dough.ancheta@gmail.com>

NIKKI BRIONES CARSICRUZ is Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science, William Hall 601, De La Salle University, 2401 Taft Avenue, Manila. She graduated from De La Salle University, AB-International Studies in 1998, and received an AECI grant from the Spanish Government in 1999 to pursue her MA in Peace and Development Studies at Universitat Jaume I in Castellon, Spain from 2000-2002. She embarked on her doctoral studies in 2004 in Singapore and recently obtained her Ph.D. in Southeast Asian Studies at the National University of Singapore. Her dissertation is entitled "From War Dance to Theater of War: Moro-Moro Performances in the Philippines." <carsicruzn@dlsu.edu.ph>

ISAAC DONOSO JIMÉNEZ is a professor, Philippine Normal University, Taft Avenue, Manila. He studied Arab Philology (2001), Hispanic Philology (2003), and Humanities (2003) at the University of Alicante (Spain), and received Master of Arts in Islamic Studies (2008) at the University of the Philippines. In 2004 and 2008, he was a recipient of the research prize Ibn al-Abbar, with the project Romanços Filipins del Regne de València (study and translation of the Philippine Romances about the Kingdom of Valencia). He edited the More Hispanic that We Admit: Insights into Philippine Cultural History (2008) and Jesús Balmori's novel Los pájaros de fuego (2010). He is a specialist in Islamic and Philippine Studies. He is currently finishing his Ph.D. in the University of Alicante with a thesis on the Islamization of the Philippine Archipelago. < isaacsonoso@yahoo.es >

JAZMIN BADONG LLANA completed PhD in Performance and Theatre Studies at the University of Wales, Aberystwyth, United Kingdom, where she was a Ford Foundation International Fellow from 2006 to 2009. She is currently the director of the Aquinas University Center for Culture and the Arts in Legazpi City, Philippines. Her areas of research are cultural performance, postcoloniality, ethnography, and Alain Badiou's theory of the event and the ethic of truths. Jazmin received the Helsinki Prize 2008 of the International Federation for Theatre Research (FIRT/IFTR) and the 2010 Dwight Conquergood Award from Performance Studies international (PSi). <jbl@aq.edu.ph>

DR. MA. CECILIA LOCSIN-NAVA holds a Master's degree in English Literature from the Ateneo de Manila University and a Ph.D. in Philippine Studies from the University of the Philippines. A specialist in Western Visayan Studies, she was first curator and director of the Negros Museum as well as of the Museo Negrense de la Salle, both of which she helped set up and a recipient of the National Book Award for Literary Studies from the Manila Critics Circle in 2002 for her first book, History and Society in the Novels of Ramon Muzones. A 1994 Metrobank Outstanding Teacher awardee, she is also Negros Occidental Private Schools Sports, Cultural and Educational Association's First

Most Outstanding Teacher. She was Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of St. La Salle in Bacolod City where she also headed the Mass Communications Department. <mclnava@yahoo.com>

PATRICIA MARION Y. LOPEZ is a graduate student (MA Art History) and faculty member of the Department of Art Studies, College of Arts and Letters, University of the Philippines, Diliman, Quezon City. She graduated cum laude in 2004 with a Bachelor's degree in Art Studies. She has been part of several research projects on art and culture in the Philippines and was a researcher for the Zarzuela/Sarsuwela exhibit held at the Vargas Museum in February, 2009. At present, she is working on a music history of a town in Southern Cebu. <pmylopez@gmail.com>

RESIL B. MOJARES is a fictionist, historian, and critic. He has a Ph.D. in Literature from the University of the Philippines. He is Professor Emeritus at the University of San Carlos in Cebu City. He has authored numerous works in Philippine history, culture, literature, and politics and has been a recipient of six Philippine National Book Awards. He served as visiting professor at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, University of Hawaii, and University of California-Los Angeles, and visiting fellow at the Center for Southeast Asian Studies in Kyoto University and Asia Research Institute in the National University of Singapore.

PRISCELINA PATAJO-LEGASTO is Professor of Comparative Literature at the Department of English and Comparative Literature (DECL), College of Arts and Letters (CAL), University of the Philippines in Diliman (UPD). She teaches graduate and undergraduate courses in literary, cultural, feminist theory and criticism, Philippine theater history and post colonial studies. She is currently the Coordinator of the Comparative Literature Program of the DECL, editor of Diliman Review, a member of the Board of Directors of the Philippine Studies Association, and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Metrobank's NOTED (Network of Outstanding Teachers and Educators). She was Fulbright Visiting Professor to Cornell and UC Berkeley (1988-89) and UCLA (2005). She has won various national awards for teaching (Metrobank SOT and Metrobank ACES) and teaching awards from UPD. Her research on theater (“Women and Contemporary Theater: ‘Usapang Babae’”) won the 1994 UPD Gawad Chanselor for Best Research and Sarswelang Pangasinan garnered the 1997 National Book Award, and 1997 UPD Best Book Award. She received the UPD Gawad Chanselor for Outstanding Researcher in 1997. Her Filipiniana Reader won the 1998 National Book Award for the Anthology from the Manila Critics’ Circle. Her publications include the Philippine Studies: Have We Gone Beyond St Louis? (as editor and contributor, 2008), Philippine Post Colonial Studies: Essays in Language and Literature (as editor and contributor, 2004), Filipiniana Reader: A Companion Reader of Filipiniana Online (as editor and contributor, 1998), Sarswelang Pangasinan (1996), Prism of Literature (as co-editor, 1986), and essays in number of books and journals. Dr. Legasto earned her A.B. English, M.A. Comparative Literature and Ph.D. in Philippine Studies from the UPD. <ppllegasto@gmail.com>

RAMÓN PAGAYON SANTOS (b. 1941) is a composer, musicologist, educator, administrator and an active cultural worker. He completed his Teachers Diploma and BM in Composition and Conducting at the UP Conservatory of Music. He earned his Master of Music (with distinction) and Ph.D. degrees at Indiana University and State University of New York at Buffalo, respectively. He was a full fellow at the Ferienkurse für Neue Musik at Darmstadt, Germany. He worked extensively with the eminent scholar-artist Jose Maceda. Santos has conducted researches in the Philippines and Southeast Asia, including South China, in the areas of traditional and contemporary music, produced manuscripts and audio and video recordings, edited and published several books and journals, organized nationwide conferences and festivals, and has lectured in more than twenty countries including Russia, Uruguay, Bolivia, Ireland, China, Korea, Japan, Taiwan, Germany, the United Kingdom, and several cities in the USA. Formerly Vice President of the International Music Council at UNESCO, Commissioner for the Arts of the NCCA and Dean of the UP College of Music, Santos is presently a University Professor Emeritus at the University of the Philippines, Executive Director of the UP Center for Ethnomusicology, and President of the newly established Musicological Society of the Philippines. <rampags225@yahoo.com>

MARIO ROGER QUIJANO AXLE is Academic Coordinator and Professor (Artes Musicales), Escuela Superior de Artes de Yucatán, Antigua Estación de Ferrocarriles, Calle 55 por 46 y 48, Centro, 97000, Mérida, Yucatán, México. Born in Mérida, Yucatán (México). He holds a University degree in Music, major in Cello, and a Masters degree in Musicology, both from the Universidad Veracruzana (Xalapa, México). He is currently working on his Doctorate dissertation in Musicology at the Universidad Complutense de Madrid (Spain). He taught at the College of Music at the Universidad Veracruzana and presently at the Escuela Superior de Artes de Yucatán. He has participated in seminars and conferences in music research in Mexico, Spain and the Philippines. His areas of study, along with Mexican music, are French and Spanish music of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, and opera and zarzuela. He is also Producer of a regional radio music program Las mil y una notas (Thousand and One Notes). <mario.quijano@esay.edu.mx>

NICANOR G. TIONGSON is a professor at the U.P. Film Institute, College of Mass Communication, University of the Philippines, Diliman, Quezon City. He has published pioneering books on Philippine theatre, such as Kasaysayan at Estetika ng Sinakulo at Ibang Dulang Panrelihiyon sa Malolos (1975), Kasaysayan ng Komedyang sa Pilipinas: 1766-1982 (1982), Sinakulo (1999), Komedyang (1999), and Salvador F. Bernal : Designing the Stage (2007), as well as books on the Filipino film, such as The Urian Anthology 1970-1979 (1983), The Urian Anthology 1980-1989 (2001), and The Cinema of Manuel Conde (2008). He also wrote the book The Women of Malolos (2004) on the pioneer feminists of the 1880s. During his term as CCP artistic director (1986-1994), he edited the 10-volume CCP Encyclopedia of Philippine Art and the 28-part Tuklas Sining monographs and videos on the seven arts in the Philippines. As a creative writer, he has written the full-length plays Pilipinas Circa 1907, Basilisa ng Malolos, and Noli at Fili Dekada 2000, six librettos for dance (including Realizing Rama), and several documentaries on Philippine theatre, costumes, and festivals. <adarnatucan@yahoo.com>

