

Arlene Villaver
"The Seed of Freedom"
Acrylic on canvas
47" x 32"
1996

A number of people sacrificed their lives for the love of their country. Their blood has become the seed that eventually led to our freedom. But there is this sacrifice of One that is all encompassing: the seed that leads to the freedom of all nations, peoples and tribes who accept it. The freedom that is not temporal but that is eternal which the artist hopes that this country will fully embrace. That freedom is in Christ, as this verse says,

Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is Freedom.

(2 Corinthians 3:17)

